THAT'S HOW THE STORY GOES...

The exhibition is about tales.

The title of the exhibition: That's how the story goes...

Tales also end with That's how the story goes...

We live in the real world.

Life is unpredictable.

Sometimes good people get punished.

Bad people get rewards.

We do not have magical objects.

For example, we do not have magic wands or magic boots.

Everybody dies one day.

Tales always have a happy ending.

In tales, good people win and bad people get punished.

In tales, there are magical objects.

People created tales and their structures.

People told tales to each other.

The tales kept changing.

Let's learn about the world of tales.

The exhibition is about Hungarian folktales.

Folktales are about real, everyday life.

For example, poor people worked a lot.

Folktales also talk about magical details.

For example, there are devils and witches in tales.

The exhibition shows the works of present-day artists and children's drawings and paintings.

The works show the characteristics of Hungarian folktales.
